Spoken

There are three tractors in three different fields working today. One tractor is red, one tractor is blue, and one tractor is green. Will you listen for the rhyming word to help me know which tractor we are singing about? Let's give it a try. Here we go: one, two, ready, go.

There's a tractor in the field; its color rhymes with bread. There's a tractor in the field, and thus this tractor's...

Spoken

It rhymes with bread. Does blue rhyme with bread? No. Does green rhyme with bread? No. I Know the tractor's red. Bread rhymes with red.

There's a tractor in the field; its color rhymes with bread. There's a tractor in the field, and thus this tractor's red.

There's a tractor in the field; its color rhymes with moo. There's a tractor in the field, and thus this tractor's...

Spoken

It rhymes with moo. Does green rhyme with moo? No. Does red rhyme with moo? No. I Know the tractor's blue. Moo rhymes with blue.
